RESEARCH AND PRACTICE-BASED RESIDENCY FOR VISUAL ARTISTS – FRANCE/LUXEMBOURG, 2026

As part of a new partnership, la malterie arts visuels (Lille) and the Bridderhaus (Esch-sur-Alzette) are calling for applications for a research and practice-based residency in 2026.

This programme is aimed at:

- > artists who have Luxembourgish citizenship or live in Luxembourg, for a residency in Lille, France, 1–30 June 2026,
- > artists who have French citizenship or live in France, for a residency in Esch-sur-Alzette, Luxembourg, 8 June–6 July 2026.

Each selected artist will be awarded a one-month residency in the partner country.

GOALS AND THEMES OF THE RESIDENCY

Both residencies aim to:

- > provide time for artistic research, practice and experimentation,
- > encourage environmentally responsible practices in the visual arts,
- > highlight the history and industrial heritage of the two host cities,
- > foster exchange between the art scenes in France and Luxembourg,
- > allow artists to expand their professional networks and increase visibility for the projects they develop.

A key focus of the residency is the link between artistic practices and environmental responsibility in contemporary art, with particular attention paid to:

- > the use of recycled or locally-sourced materials,
- > collaboration with local partners,
- > the involvement of people from the local area.

ELIGIBILITY

This call for applications is aimed at visual artists who have French citizenship or live in France (for the residency in Luxembourg) and visual artists who have Luxembourgish citizenship or live in Luxembourg (for the residency in France). All applicants must show evidence of at least two years of professional activity after receiving an advanced degree. There is no age limit. Applications from collectives or partnerships will not be accepted.

Applicants must:

- > speak French or English,
- > be completely available and free from all other engagements during the residency period,
/ French candidates must also:
 - currently working or studied in the Hauts-de-France region
 - be a member of or contribute to the artiste-auteur social security system in France

Applications may be submitted via this link:

Application deadline: 18 January 2026, 23:59 CET.
!!! Extension until February 1, 2026 23:59 CET.

ABOUT THE HOSTS

1. la malterie arts visuels, à Lille (France)

A resource centre and place for experimentation in the visual arts, la malterie arts visuels puts the artist at the heart of everything it does. Its primary mission is to support artists in their professional and creative development. Besides actively campaigning for the protection of the official status of artiste-auteur and improved working conditions, the organisation facilitates encounters between artists, between established disciplines and emerging artistic forms, and between art world professionals and the general public (be they passionate connoisseurs or curious and keen to learn more).

The organisation concentrates on two main interconnecting areas:

- > the resource centre deploys its expertise in the administrative management of the visual arts,
- > the incubator supports artists and creative professionals and hosts residencies for visual artists.

It offers three programmes aimed at supporting professional and creative development: 'Accélérateur' (one year, project-based), 'Impulse !' (three years) and HLM (for artistic collectives).

At la malterie arts visuels, the programme of activities is focused on the needs of the artists receiving support and various partners, including sector professionals, partner institutions and specialists. To implement the programme, the organisation relies on internal funding and resources as well as input from its professional network of experts, sponsored artists and members.

The selected artist from (or resident in) Luxembourg will be accommodated in a private room in a shared house. The kitchen and bathroom are communal and shared with other residents. The building is located next to la malterie arts visuels, where the artist will have access to a studio or workspace of around 25m².

2. The Bridderhaus, Esch-sur-Alzette (Luxembourg)

The Bridderhaus is a hub dedicated to contemporary art practices which offers artists space for experimentation and innovation. Located on the outskirts of the city of Esch-sur-Alzette, the creative complex welcomes both emerging and established talents from diverse artistic disciplines, hosting outstanding, well-known artists from Luxembourg and further afield.

The Bridderhaus is woven into the city's rich cultural fabric, which allows it to create a network of synergies in the local community. Its architecture, which has been fully restored and renovated, is also testament to the multi-faceted history of Esch-sur-Alzette.

Thanks to its state-of-the-art facilities, individually-tailored funding programmes and support from the city's cultural institutions, the residency fosters the creation of innovative work, all while promoting exchange between artists and the local and regional community.

The Bridderhaus stands out for its commitment to artistic diversity and long-term impact on the cultural scene both locally and internationally. It is a cultural institution that is financed and run by the city administration of Esch-sur-Alzette and is supported by the Luxembourgish Ministry of Culture.

The selected artist from (or resident in) France will stay in one of the residential studios at the Bridderhaus (approx. 30m²). The kitchen and bathrooms are communal and shared with other residents..
